Description

gillicuddy is definitely a man for special releases. Remember his last ep "the repeating thoughts..." on Resting Bell, containing 2 - no! - 4, or better, 5 tracks? "music for moles" contains 10 tracks and this time no track repeats, I promise. The songs were mostly recorded during the "the repeating thoughts..." sessions and they are all beautiful folk-sketches in a pretty rough stage. And because of the raw outfit I'll also give you a pretty sketchy release description, based on the notes gillicuddy gave to me:

- Consider the whole thing as sort of a "fragmentary musical fairy tale"
- The genre tag of the audio files is (fittingly) set to "soundtrack"
- This is "krtek": en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mole_%28Zden%C4%9Bk_Miler_character%29
- It's been recorded with the memo function of a Sony Ericsson K550i mobile phone

So you can see: It's about moles, it has kind of a concept and it's been recorded with a mobile phone. Make your own picture and enjoy it.
